MESSAGE FROM THE BOARD

John Little
One-Year Board Member

As time progresses, I am slowly realizing how important the relationships are that we form with our colleagues and co-workers. I am not typically the person who wants to be on any board other than a wakeboard or surfboard, but when Dave Johnson called and requested that I take the one-year board member position I couldn't tell him no, and I haven't regretted that decision.

As an inspector I feel that the relationships I have with the contractors and citizens is equally important. The Beehive Chapter promotes open communication with contractors by providing multiple training opportunities throughout the year for both inspectors and contractors. As I attend these events, I have rubbed shoulders with some great people that have become great friends.

BOARD ARTICLE (Continued)

...With summer upon us, the beautiful weather gives us a chance to take a moment and visit with the people who make our jobs possible and enjoyable. These jobsite visits open the doors to conversations that introduces us to new products, techniques, and experiences that people have had throughout their careers. We can use this information to better ourselves and improve our future interactions with customers. I am grateful for the time I get to spend with the Beehive Chapter and its members, and I look forward to many more years with them. I am excited to see what the future brings to the Chapter and to the profession.

Sincerely,

CONFORMITY CORNER by Kent Partridge, President

Basement Permits

Private Home Inspectors are calling out problems in basements that were not permitted and subsequently never inspected by city inspectors. Banks are requiring the sellers to resolve these problems prior to the new buyer getting loan approval. Jurisdictions, specifically building departments are receiving phone calls from sellers, buyers, realtors, & others asking how they can get these basements approved. How are we all handling these requests?

We will discuss this topic at our next monthly meeting, July 15, 2015.

BEAM INSTALLATIONS (July Training)

John Niedzwiecki

This month's Beehive Chapter meeting will include a presentation by John Niedzwiecki who is a representative with Rosboro. He will be discussing issues in relation to full-dimension beams, the treatment of beams for exterior applications, the proper installation of I-joists, and field repairs. This meeting will be an open forum for discussion and we encourage all of you to come and participate.
